

Visa Information

Chinese women are among the most popular ladies for marriage, and it's common for them to know about the visa procedure. To be more precise, the procedure for getting a K-1 visa. This is a type of visa that's granted for ladies planning to become future spouses in the US.

The duration, payment, and process will slightly vary depending on the region, and it can take several months for a Chinese woman to get her K-1 visa. Once she gets it and arrives in your country, make sure that you'll get married within 90 days to avoid problems with the immigration department.

