

Visa Information

If you're from the US and want to bring your future Israeli wife, then you need to undergo the process of getting a K-1 visa. The process can take more than one month and requires a bunch of docs such as a valid passport, proof of financial resources, visa application, and so on. Upon the arrival of your bride, make sure you have an official wedding within 90 days.

If you're not from the US, regulations of how you can bring a wife from Israel might vary. But in general, you'll have to apply for a visa that is similar to a K-1 visa. Again, you'll have to wait to get this visa, but it might not last as long as in the case of an American K-1 visa.
