

Visa Information

To bring your future wife to the US from the UK, your lady should get a K-1 visa. The process can be lengthy, and it can take months to get her visa. In addition to filling out the application, you and your partner should prove your relationship is authentic. Once your future wife gets a visa and arrives in the US, she's expected to get married officially within 90 days.

If you're not from the US, getting a visa for your future partner might be similar. Much attention is given to submitting information and evidence about your relationship. Then, you'll be asked to provide the required docs. Getting a fiancé visa in other countries might take several weeks to months.

